

Gold Seal Quality Care Program: A Side-by-Side Comparison of Florida Approved Accreditation Associations

Gold Seal Quality Care Program Legislation

Section 402.281, Florida Statutes, Gold Seal Quality Care Program

The Gold Seal Quality Care Program, created by the Florida Legislature in 1996, acknowledges child care facilities and family child care homes that are accredited by a nationally recognized association and whose standards reflect quality child care. Section 402.281, Florida Statutes, stipulates that child care programs that are accredited by a nationally recognized accrediting association whose standards substantially meet or exceed the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), the National Association of Family Child Care (NAFCC), and the National Early Childhood Program Accreditation Commission (NECPA) shall receive a separate “Gold Seal Quality Care” designation to operate as a gold seal child care facility, large family child care home, or family day care home.

In developing the Gold Seal Quality Care program standards, the department shall consult with the Department of Education, the Florida Head Start Directors Association, the Florida Association of Child Care Management, the Florida Family Day Care Association, the Florida Children’s Forum, the State Coordinating Council for Early Childhood Services, the Early Childhood Association of Florida, the National Association for Child Development Education, providers receiving exemptions under s. 402.316, and parents, for the purpose of approving the accrediting associations.

This side-by-side comparison of Florida Gold Seal Quality Care approved accreditation associations provides the public with an abridged version of the accreditation standards, which guide early childhood programs that choose to participate in the Gold Seal Quality Care Program.*

**This side-by-side comparison is not comprehensive and does not contain every standard of the accrediting association. To receive comprehensive documentation of an accreditation association’s standards, please contact the accrediting association directly.*

Licensure and Regulation

National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC)	National Early Childhood Program Accreditation (NECPA)	National Association of Family Child Care (NAFCC)	Accredited Professional Preschool Learning Environment (APPLE)	National Accreditation Commission on Early Care and Education Programs (NAC)	Association of Christian Schools International (ACSI)	Council on Accreditation (COA)
Programs must be licensed or regulated and in good standing for the past 12 months, unless exempt. Exempt programs that are eligible for licensure or regulation are required to be licensed or regulated. If not permitted to be licensed or regulated by the state, programs must document compliance with criteria specially created for this purpose by NAEYC.	The program must hold a license in good standing with the state agency responsible for licensing child care centers and early childhood programs. License-exempt programs must provide a copy of the rules and regulations for licensed programs and demonstrate their compliance with these rules and regulations and proof of oversight and regular monitoring visits.	Programs must have a current license, registration, or certificate – the highest level of regulation available for family child care in their state. Programs must comply with NAFCC Accreditation standards even if they are higher than state standards. If state standards are higher, compliance with those standards is also required.	Programs must be licensed by the state or local agency in whose jurisdiction the program is located. Program must provide documentation that it has been licensed (or in operation if exempt) for a period of a year before verification be scheduled. Exempt facilities standards must be at least equal to those required by the licensing authority.	Programs must be licensed or legally operating. Programs with full and partial exemptions from regulation must provide certification of exemption status.	Programs must be licensed by appropriate state or local agencies if required and meet or exceed standards in areas such as health, safety, background screening and training. Programs exempt from state or local licensing may apply for ACSI preschool accreditation.	Programs must possess relevant licenses and comply with applicable federal, state, and local laws and regulations.

The school must operate in accordance with all applicable state, district, and local regulations.	Programs must maintain religious exemption status as described by Florida Statute.	The program must be licensed by the governing body of their state as well as any other local licensing agency.	Licensed programs must include a copy of the program's current license and last inspection report. Programs exempt from licensure will be expected to validate how all minimal state licensing requirements are met or exceeded, regardless of exemption.	The program possesses relevant licenses, if applicable, and displays documents in an area visible to the public. The program meets applicable laws, regulations, guidelines, and codes, including those related to health and safety.	Programs must be licensed by appropriate state or local agencies if required and meet or exceed standards areas such as health, safety, background screening and training. Programs exempt from state or local licensing may apply for GAACS preschool accreditation.

The school's program of learning must be based on and aligned with clearly defined desired results for student learning that facilitate achievement for all students. Although no curriculum is specified, there are 5 curriculum goals that must be met. These goals relate to developmentally appropriate experiences across all areas of development. The curriculum must challenge each student to excel, must reflect a commitment to equity, and must demonstrate an appreciation of diversity.	Curriculum, inclusive of goals, planned activities, daily schedule, and materials, must be based on knowledge of child development and designed to meet individual needs of children. Developmentally appropriate materials, equipment, and activities must meet the intellectual, physical, social, emotional, and spiritual needs of each child.	Lesson plans and goals shall be age appropriate and must address the following domains: Social and Emotional; Fine Motor; Gross Motor; Cognitive; Creative; Spiritual; Discovery; Language and Literacy. Centers are clearly defined and organized. Every classroom has a library area with adequate and age appropriate books for each child. Playground is safe and includes opportunities for pushing, pulling, climbing, crawling, pedaling, throwing, catching, sand play, balancing, running, and a quiet place.	A published curriculum guide is required with scope and sequence for each age group along with written goals and objectives. The curriculum must address all areas of development (i.e., physical, social/emotional, core knowledge, language and literacy, mathematical awareness, science, social studies, and fine art) and be developmentally appropriate.	Program activities provide opportunities to build skills, explore interest, experience a sense of self-efficacy and belonging, and contribute to the community. A variety of activities and lessons afford choice and promote social, emotional, cognitive, and physical growth. Daily activities demonstrate well planned, flexible, and responsive care in a group setting that is appropriate to the age, developmental-level, family situation, interpersonal characteristics, and special needs of children in the program.	The instructional program meets the spiritual and educational needs of the children (including children with special needs) and encourages their spiritual, intellectual, and language, math and science, emotional, social, and physical growth. Teaching staff foster children's emotional well-being by demonstrating respect for children and creating a positive emotional climate as reflected in behaviors such as frequent social conversations, joint laughter, and affection. Teaching staff express warmth through behaviors such as physical affection, eye contact, tone of voice, and smiles. Teaching staff are consistent and predictable in their physical and emotional care of all children. Teaching staff function as secure bases for children. They respond promptly in developmentally appropriate ways to children's positive initiations, negative emotions, and feelings of hurt and fear by providing comfort, support, and assistance.	Teachers provide warm and loving physical contact with children to reassure them that they are cared for and respected. Teachers speak to each child frequently, making eye contact and using clear, correct language patterns, and affectionate, supportive words.	The provider cares about, respects and is committed to helping each child develop to his or her full potential. The provider seems to like children and to enjoy being with them. The provider observes children's behavior, verbal and body language, and abilities. The provider uses this information to respond to each child. For example, the provider responds to a baby's crying as promptly and effectively as possible.	The teacher is responsive to the students needs and provides assistance in a timely and supportive way. The teachers provide constructive feedback, scaffolding and encouragement to children. Teachers address children using their names. Teachers speak in a respectful manner with children. Children are encouraged by teachers to engage in activities independently. Teachers are responsive to individual children's needs, make eye contact with children, use care giving routines to positively interact with individual children. Teachers use meal time as a learning time, and mealtimes are a pleasant time of the day. When teachers read to children it is dialogical.	Teachers demonstrate behaviors that encourage the children's development of trust. Teachers have frequent, positive interactions with children. Teachers are responsive to children. Children are generally comfortable, happy, relaxed, and engaged in activities. Teachers use positive guidance techniques that help children learn to make wise choices and control their own behavior. Teachers promote cooperative and positive social behavior among children. Teachers ensure that snack/mealtimes are pleasant and social learning experiences for children. Respect is displayed for cultural, ethnic, linguistic, and religious diversity and ability or disability. Teachers encourage children to develop self-help skills that are appropriate to their age.	Staff members love and respect each child and interact often with children by showing interest, warmth, consideration, and affection. Staff speaks to children in a courteous tone. Staff is available to individual children and responsive to their needs. Staff encourages an age-appropriate degree of independence in children. Staff encourages the initiation of skill development by recognizing the work, accomplishments, and interests of children.	Children experience quality and stability in relationships with caregivers and peers. Each child establishes and maintains an ongoing relationship with a primary caregiver who provides frequent expressive and verbal interaction in a warm, friendly manner. The program encourages positive approaches to guide group interaction and individual behavior. The program prohibits: Corporal punishment, withholding food, isolation, ignoring the child, and labeling a child "good" or "bad".

Family support is addressed in standards that address understanding and knowing families, sharing information with families, and nurturing families as advocates for their children. Requirements include providing program information; a process for orienting children and families; maintaining ongoing, two-way communication in many forms; encouraging parents to be involved in the program; and joint decision-making opportunities to support children's development and learning.	Family involvement includes providing program information, welcoming parents at all times, encouraging family members to be involved in the program in various ways, informing parents about all aspects of the program in writing, holding parent teacher conferences at least twice annually, communicating daily with each child's parents, providing parent education opportunities in the primary language of the family, and giving families information regarding social services.	Family involvement standards include open visitation policies; respect for family diversity; responsiveness to parent requests, preferences, and values; frequent opportunities for sharing day-to-day happenings; conferences at least annually; and joint goal-setting and decision-making for children.	Family involvement standards include providing parents with an enrollment package and a Parent Handbook, welcoming parents as visitors, ensuring frequent parent/staff interactions, encouraging parents to volunteer and participate, and providing information brochures and nutritional information. Parents are encouraged to volunteer and to participate in the program.	Family involvement standards include opportunities for parents and staff to evaluate the program's strengths and weaknesses annually, provision of written policies and program goals and objectives, and encouragement of parents to participate in the center's program.	Family involvement standards include provision of a written handbook of program policies, objectives, and goals; regular means of communication; conferences at least once a year and at other times as needed; and goal-setting opportunities for their child.	Programs are required to ensure that parents are active participants and partners by providing pre-enrollment and orientation materials, involving them in decision-making regarding their child and the program, conducting semi-annual parent-teacher conferences, providing multiple means of communicating, providing information on community services, and making parent education opportunities available.

Family involvement standards are addressed. Programs must develop, implement and communicate an effective school-community interaction plan. Partnerships with parents, regular home-school communications, active family involvement activities, parent education and training, and assistance with coordinating interagency services for children and families are required.	Family involvement is not addressed explicitly as a standard; however, parent involvement activities are discussed throughout the standards. A variety of events must be pre-planned and arranged according to the school calendar, posted and given to the parents. Notes and daily comments to parents are also discussed.	Staff and parents work together to support children's development and learning. Families are informed about the program and the curriculum, policy changes and other issues that may affect the program. The program staff connects families with needed resources.	Programs are required to develop and implement family involvement policies, including regular opportunities for informal and formal communication, conferences at least twice a year, parent education opportunities at least quarterly, and provision of information regarding community resources and services as needed.	Family members are treated with respect, and helped to feel welcome and comfortable. Personnel support families' involvement in the program by offering orientation, developing and distributing handbooks, keeping families informed about program activities, and events, and encouraging families to give input and become involved with the program. Personnel and family members share information to support the well-being of children and youth.	Family involvement standards include provision of a written handbook of program policies, objectives, and goals; regular means of communication; conferences at least once a year and at other times as needed; and goal-setting opportunities for their child.
